2025 TEASER

2025, A SPECIAL YEAR FOR THE JUMPING INTERNATIONAL DE DINARD

Organised since 2013 by the Mars family, the Dinard competition earned its 5-star status in 2015, a symbol of excellence. For the Jumping International de Dinard, 2025 marks ten years at the sport's highest level—a decade of thrilling memories and unforgettable victories, starting with that of Ireland's Bertram Allen who, in 2015, on his 20th birthday, won the Rolex Grand Prix Ville de Dinard with the brilliant Molly Malone V.

You only have to look at the list of winners in subsequent years to realise that Dinard is indeed a meeting place for the best. The list of winners that followed speaks for itself: Germany's Christian Ahlmann (2016), France's Nicolas Delmotte (2017), Alexis Deroubaix (2019), and Kévin Staut (2024), USA's McLain Ward (2018), and Austria's Max Kühner (2023). But only one rider has achieved the feat twice: Switzerland's Martin Fuchs

But only one rider has achieved the feat twice: Switzerland's Martin Fuchs. After winning in 2021 with Conner 70, he returned in 2022 to claim a second title, this time with the brilliant Leone Jei, in front of a roaring crowd and an electric atmosphere.

A HISTORIC COMPETITION

With its iconic venue and unique ambiance, the event thrills equestrian fans year after year. Since its first edition in 1912, the Jumping International de Dinard has stood the test of time, maintaining its prestige and ranking among the oldest and most esteemed competitions in the world.

"This competition carries a strong sense of history, which gives it another dimension. It truly embodies the essence of our sport," said French rider Kévin Staut, after his 2024 Rolex Grand Prix Ville de Dinard victory. "Dinard is legendary. It's undoubtedly one of the most beautiful grass arenas in Europe. This arena has seen some of the greatest champions compete," added his compatriot Julien Épaillard, runner-up in the 2023 Grand Prix.

A magical experience for both elite and amateur riders, the Jumping International de Dinard continues to make dreams come true. From 24 to 27 July 2025, its 113th edition promises to be truly unforgettable!
